

DNANUDGE COVID-19 TESTING TERMS AND CONDITIONS

These Terms and Conditions apply to the COVID-19 testing service provided by DnaNudge (the “Service”).

The Service is provided by DnaNudge Limited, a company registered in England & Wales, with company number 09705888 whose registered address is at Level 11, The Translation And Innovation Hub, Imperial College White City Campus, London, England, W12 0BZ (collectively referred to as the “Company”, “we”, “us” or “our” in these Terms and Conditions).

These Terms and Conditions form a legally binding agreement between the Company and the individual, business or entity ordering the Service (the “Customer”, also referred to in these Terms and Conditions as “you”).

THE NATURE AND LIMITATIONS OF THE TEST

The Service consists of testing of samples (sputum) provided by the individual undergoing the test (the “Subjects”) to ascertain the presence of the SARS-CoV-2 virus (the virus that causes COVID-19). Before the test is carried out, each Subject will be provided with an Information and Consent Form. The content of the Information and Consent Form, which must be completed and signed by the Subject, is incorporated by reference hereto and forms part of these Terms and Conditions.

The testing method use reverse-transcription polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) technology which identifies the genetic code of the SARS-CoV-2 virus. Whilst the technology is reliable to a high degree, like all medical and genetic tests the testing is not 100% accurate and in a small number of cases the result could be incorrect. There is no guarantee that the result obtained for a Subject who has been tested is a correct result or that all countries and airlines will accept the result notification that is provided.

Positive results are the most likely to be correct as the genetic code of the virus has been identified in the test. In rare cases, even a positive result could be incorrect (for example, because of contamination of the sputum sample).

Negative results can be incorrect as they only indicate that no indication was found of the genetic code of the virus. This does not mean that the Subject does not have the virus anywhere in his or her body. The result only indicates that the virus was not found in a sample taken from an area where the virus is most likely to be found.

An unclear, void, borderline or inconclusive result is by its nature inconclusive.

It is also important to bear in mind that a Subject could contract the virus shortly after taking the test (and after correctly obtaining a negative result) or at any stage of the disease where the virus is not present in the body in significant volumes (which may lead to a negative, borderline or inconclusive result).

CONSENT FOR TAKING THE TEST

The COVID-19 test is performed by extracting and analysing DNA from a sample. The Subject must provide his or her own sample and sign the consent form for the testing.

If the Subject is a child under the age of 16 he/she will require the consent of their parent or legal guardian to carry out the test. The parent or legal guardian will have to sign the information and consent form in relation to the child's testing.

It is a strict condition for the use of the Service that each Subject (or their parent or legal guardian) must provide express consent for the sample collection and testing. We may refuse to carry out the test or to provide you with the result and we may irretrievably delete all records of the testing results associated with the Subject if we are notified or have reason to believe that the sample was obtained without the Subject's consent. If this occurs, the Subject may need to re-perform the test in order to use the Service.

YOUR PRIVACY AND OUR REPORTING OBLIGATIONS

The law requires us to report the details of any positive, negative, indeterminate and void COVID-19 or influenza test to Public Health England ("PHE"), which is a government entity.

Among other details, we may provide to PHE are the Subject's first and last name, sex, date of birth, NHS number (if known), ethnicity, current address (including postcode), telephone number (only in the case of SARS-CoV-2 positive or indeterminate results), email address (only in the case of SARS-CoV-2 positive or indeterminate results) as well as details relating to us and the testing we conduct.

These personal details together with the test result will be collected from you and provided to PHE or to such other bodies as required by law or by government/NHS instructions.

Further details regarding our processing of the Subject's and the Customer's personal data are provided in our privacy policy statement: <https://www.dnanudge.com/v6/uploads/files/Privacy-Policy-for-CovidNudge-testing.pdf>.

INFORMATION YOU PROVIDE TO US

It is your responsibility to ensure that all information including personal details of yourself and/or the Subject provided to us in connection with the Service are true, accurate and up-to-date. You must not provide any false or misleading information and it is your duty to correct any information which you believe to be inaccurate.

YOUR AND THE SUBJECT'S RESPONSIBILITIES

A COVID-19 test is only one aspect of healthcare and public health. If you or the Subject have symptoms that could suggest that you contracted COVID-19, regardless of the test result medical advice should be sought and the Subject must follow NHS and government guidelines including in regard to self-isolation.

If the Subject tested positive:

A positive result means the Subject had coronavirus when the test was done and must self-isolate.

If the Subject had a test because he or her had symptoms, the Subject should keep self-isolating for at least 10 days from when the symptoms started.

If the Subject had a test but has not had symptoms, he or she should self-isolate for 10 days from when the test was conducted.

Anyone living with the Subject, and anyone in his/her support bubble, must self-isolate for 14 days from when the Subject starts self-isolating.

Unclear, void, borderline or inconclusive test result:

An unclear, void, borderline or inconclusive result means it is not possible to say if the Subject had coronavirus when the test was done. The subject should get another coronavirus test as soon as possible if this happens.

If the Subject took the test because he/she had symptoms, they must keep self-isolating and have another test within 5 days from when the symptoms started.

If the Subject is not able to have another test in time, he/she must self-isolate for at least 10 days from when the symptoms started. Anyone living with the Subject, and anyone in his/her support bubble, must self-isolate for 14 days.

If the Subject had a test but has not had any symptoms, they do not need to self-isolate while waiting to get another test. People you live with, and anyone in the Subject's support bubble do not need to self-isolate.

WHERE YOU ORDER THE TEST FOR SOMEONE ELSE

If you order the Service from us for the benefit of another person (except in the case of a parent or legal guardian ordering the Service for a child under 16 or for a person under their guardianship):

- (a) you acknowledge that the test will only be performed on condition that the Subject signs the information and consent form;
- (b) you understand that the test results will be provided to the Subject, not to you, unless the Subject requests that the results are provided to you in which case we will act on the Subject's written instructions;
- (c) you will be liable to the cost of the test if it is taken by the Subject.

USE OF THE SERVICE

The Service is provided for personal healthcare purposes.

Unless arranged and agreed in advance with us, the use of the Service for any commercial or research purposes (including in order to conduct any surveys or to collect any statistical data) is strictly prohibited.

Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, any of the following is strictly prohibited and may result in the immediate termination of the Service without liability or refund of the charges and may be reported to relevant authorities:

- the unlawful use of the Service or its use for unlawful purposes including the testing of persons without their express informed consent (or the consent of their legal guardians);
- the provision of misleading or inaccurate information to us in connection with the Service;
- the use of the Service for the purpose of developing, providing or carrying out any service or business targeting third parties (including a business or service targeting Subjects) or its use for the purpose of generating any revenue.

OUR RIGHT TO REFUSE TO CONDUCT THE TEST

We shall be entitled to terminate the Service by written notice to you if you are in breach of these Terms and Conditions including in any event that you or the Subject provide us with false or misleading information in connection with the Service. We may also terminate or suspend the Service and may withhold test results if for any legal reasons we are prevented from delivering the Service. If we do so, with no fault of yours or the Subject, you may be entitled to a refund of all or some of the charges payable for the Service.

We may refuse to carry out the test and may discontinue the testing process if the Subject is uncooperative, disruptive, violent, threatening or unable to provide the sputum sample or if for similar reasons the Subject's conduct is objectionable. You will not be entitled to a refund of the charges in such circumstances and we are entitled to charge you even if the test has not commenced or was discontinued for those reasons.

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS AND ACCESS CONTROLS

The results of the test will be provided to the Subject via an email address provided by the Subject. It is the Subject's responsibility to ensure that the email address is correct and that the account is secured and accessible only to the Subject or with his/her authorisation.

Any password or access code or account credentials we may issue to you or the Subject in connection with the test results is personal and it is your/the Subject's responsibility to protect such information and keep it secure. Passwords and account credentials must not be shared with anyone else. The security of the test results is dependent on your/the Subject's compliance with this requirement.
